

To come to fabled Shangri-la is to leave the worries of the world behind. A place from which to explore the mysteries of the Far East and to find the inspiration behind James Hilton's book, the story of Lost Horizon. Surrounded by snow-capped mountains, it offers awe-inspiring views and experiences within a natural paradise where "being" is more compelling than "doing".

Location – Luxury in the Clouds

Launching in April 2019, this 7-hectare resort is Shangri-la's first glamping resort for seasoned travellers and families that want something different. just 20 minutes from Diqing Shangri-la Airport and a short distance from Old Town Shangri-la, where you can stroll through quaint cobblestoned streets and traditional Tibetan buildings. Also lies within a rustic Tibetan village. This farmland has 38 families and is at the end of a beautiful valley.

At 3,300m above sea level, Shangri-la sits on the edge of the Tibetan Plateau. Sitting high in the mountains between Yunnan and Sichuan, Shangri-la is also known as the ancient city of Gyalthang. Originally part of the Tibetan kingdom of Khampa, this was an important stop on the ancient Tea Horse trade route. The population here is thus mainly Tibetan. The main minority group are Naxis.
